Dear Student,

Welcome to Measuring Up for English Language Learners. Learning a new language takes time and a lot of practice. This book was designed to help you learn how the English language works and give you plenty of practice in the areas of reading, writing, speaking, and listening.

Each lesson is broken down into four parts.

- Focus on Literature and Informational Passages with Guided Thinking Prompts
Listen to and read paired passages on interesting topics. Learn skills, standards, and vocabulary with built-in language support.
- Try It
Time to practice together or independently with the skills you have learned.
- Organize It
Think and learn about text structures using graphic organizers.
- Exit Ticket
Summarize your learning at the end of every lesson to help keep you on track.

Each unit concludes with two additional activities.

- Know It, Show It
Now is the time to show what you know with practice questions, thinking back to the literature and informational passages you read in the unit.
- Write It
Write about what you have read.

Along the way you will have opportunities to make connections to what you already know, learn new words, listen to others, and speak about your newfound knowledge, with stopping points to check how well you are learning English.

Measuring Up for English Language Learners is here to help you on your way to English proficiency!

What You'll See in Measuring Up®

Lesson Review

FOCUS PASSAGE AND GUIDED THINKING

Literature and Informational passages are identified for each thematic lesson. Guided Thinking questions are distributed throughout the lesson to emphasize the target skills in reading, speaking, listening, and writing.

See a description of the skills you will learn in the lesson.

Guided Thinking questions check how well you understand the passage and help you to think critically while practicing spoken and written English.

Colorful pictures are placed throughout to help you make connections.

Lesson includes list of Learning Targets on which lesson focuses.

New words that you will learn about in the English language will be in bold throughout the passage.

How Am I Doing? and Check Your Understanding provide checkpoints to make sure you understand the skills.

MAIN IDEA AND DETAILS IN SCIENCE
Many science articles are divided into sections that explain important ideas. Each section has its own main idea. Usually, a heading tells the main idea of a section.

GUIDED THINKING

▶ HEAR IT
Listen and follow along as your teacher reads the passage aloud.

▶ SPEAK IT
Read the title. What do you think this article will be about?
Tell a partner.

▶ SPEAK IT
Read the shaded sentences.
Tell the main idea.

Lesson 2

WHAT I AM GOING TO LEARN
I will learn how to find the main idea and key details in an informational text by reading, speaking, listening, and writing.

FOCUS ON INFORMATIONAL TEXT
Use the shaded sentences and the Guided Thinking questions to find the main idea and details in this article.

All About Cats

Cats as Pets
Many people love cats. Most cats make great pets because they are quiet. They are clean animals. They can take care of themselves. Most cats do not like making messes.

Sleepy Cats
Some people do not think cats are fun pets. This is because cats like to sleep a lot. Cats take "cat naps." They like to sleep for a few minutes at a time. They like to play at night.

The Big Cats
Cats may be great pets. But not all cats are pets. Lions and tigers are "big cats" that live in the wild. They are very fast and strong animals. These "big cats" can be mean, too. They would not be good pets!

Tigers live alone. They do not live in groups.

▶ SPEAK IT
What detail supports the heading "Sleepy Cats?"

▶ SPEAK IT
Read the shaded sentences.
Tell the main idea.

lions part of the "big cats" family; have no natural predators tigers largest cats in the world

Text Features

- Title, Dialogue

Special Features

- The main character faces two problems in this story.

Support for Entering and Emerging PLD Students

- Supply main idea language frames such as, This is about _____.
- Emphasize illustrations during passage preview, allowing students to explore commonality of their language to English. Use language frames such as, I think this is _____, or I see _____.

Explicit Instruction

Main Idea and Details

- Tell students that the main idea in a story is what the story is mainly about. Sometimes the title of the story is a good clue to what the whole story is about.
- Explain that the details tell what the characters see, how they feel, and what they do.

Before Reading

Activate Prior Knowledge

Ask students if they have ever had a pet. Have students tell how they would feel if their pet was lost. Incorporate lesson vocabulary into your oral conversation as appropriate. Review cognates.

Preview

Direct students to preview the passage as you model making a prediction.

Model Say to the students:

The title, "Lara the Cat," makes me think that this story will be about a special cat named Lara. I wonder if the picture at the beginning of the story is Lara. I wonder if something happened to the kitten or why this kitten is special.

As I skim the passage, I notice a sign that says, "Found Black Kitten." I wonder if anyone will call the phone number. I am looking forward to reading this to find out.

Direct students to make a prediction and identify the clues they used to make their prediction. Compose an oral prediction with Entering and Emerging PLD students. Scaffold responses with a sentence frame such as, I predict _____ because _____.

Direct students to share their prediction with a partner. Remind them to use complete sentences, providing oral language frames such as, I think this is about _____ because _____.

Present the Passage

Read the Passage Aloud

First Read

Direct students to follow along as you read the passage aloud. Remind them to pay attention to the details and keep asking themselves what the characters are saying and doing. Remind them to keep predicting where the story line is leading.

Second Read

Using the choral reading approach, reread the passage aloud. Have students follow along, reading in unison as they are able. Allow students to use a marker or card to track the text if needed.

Review

Speak

- Review predictions to confirm or modify them. Support Entering and Emerging PLD students with language frames as needed.

I predicted _____ and I was right. [confirm prediction]
I thought that _____ but _____. [modify prediction]
- Discuss Tier 1 and 2 words: said – explained, cried. Discuss the difference in meaning for each.
- Point out the homonym block. Ask students for definitions of block. They may include explanations such as wooden toy blocks or a neighborhood like a city block. Read the sentence again, “They walked around the block.” Tell students that block has different meanings. They should select the meaning that makes sense in the passage.
- Highlight the pronouns it, she, her, they. Tell students that pronouns stand for a noun (something or someone) that is mentioned in the story. Review each. Read the sentences aloud and have students identify the references as they are used in this passage.
- Point to the compound words inside, cannot, outside, anytime. Explain that these words are made from two smaller words. Review the meaning of each and identify each component. If time allows, discuss the opposite meaning of inside–outside.
- Tell students the main character faces two problems in this story. Read aloud the paragraph on the first page. Ask students to identify the first problem. [The cat may belong to someone.] Then ask, What was another reason Alisa could not keep the cat? [Cat hair made Alisa’s mom sick.] Direct students to read the paragraphs under the picture on the second page.
- Discuss the answers orally to the Guided Thinking questions, locating the words and phrases in the passage that lead to the main idea.
- Review Check Your Understanding and How Am I Doing? self-assessments.

Understand Text Features

Listen

Have students identify the main features of the text that help them understand the story. Tell them that they should pay attention to text features as they read because the features can help them understand what they are reading. Point out the following features of a fictional passage.

- Title—This usually gives the reader an idea of what the story is all about.
- Dialogue—Words spoken by a character are placed inside quotation marks. The way a character talks gives the reader an idea of what the character is like. Review how different punctuation marks reveal how the dialogue is spoken. [question marks, periods, exclamation marks]
 - “Dad! Can I keep it?” Alisa asked.
 - “It may belong to someone,” said Dad.
 - “My! Alisa, that is a cute kitten!” Grandma cried.

- Group Developing, Expanding, Bridging, and Reaching students into triads. Assign roles as Alisa, Dad, and Grandma and have them read the dialogue aloud. Remind them to pay attention to the punctuation marks.

Read the Passage on Your Own

Direct Developing, Expanding, Bridging, and Reaching PLD students to reread the passage.

Alternatively, you may wish to pair students, taking turns reading the passage. Remind them to pay attention to the details that tell what the characters say and do. If appropriate, direct them to write answers to the Guided Thinking questions.

After Reading

Try It

Read the questions and answer choices aloud to students. Discuss reasoning for correct and/or incorrect answers. Then, direct Developing, Expanding, Bridging, and Reaching PLD students to answer the questions independently.

Organize It

Have students follow along as you read aloud the directions and examine the story map.

Point out that the story map is divided into three sections, beginning, middle, and end. Explain that the story parts are listed in the middle column. Direct students to complete the remaining boxes, filling in the information for “Wanted” and “So.” Some of the details have already been filled in. Remind students to review their answers to the Guided Thinking questions to help them complete the chart.

Allow Entering and Emerging PLD students to complete the map using alternative ways such as drawing or dramatizing.

Exit Ticket

Remind students that when they summarize, they should try to include all the important ideas from the story in as few of their own words as possible. Help them to summarize the story using the story map from Organize It as a guide.

Scaffold responses with a language frame such as, (Somebody) _____ (wanted) _____. But, _____. So, _____. Then, _____.

Allow students time to Turn and Talk. Remind them to speak in complete sentences. Scaffold responses with the language frame above.

Understand Text Features

Have students identify the main features of the text that help them understand the article. Tell them that they should pay attention to text features as they read because the features can help them understand what they are reading. Point out the following features of a science passage.

- Section headings—In most science articles, the writer uses section headings to divide the article into parts. Have students choose one of the sections and analyze how effectively the heading summarizes the contents of that part of the article.

- Photos and captions—Explain that photos and captions can show what something is like, give new information, or provide an explanation. Have students examine the photo and caption on the second page and explain that this caption provides new information. [Tigers live alone. They do not live in groups.]
- Glossary—Subject-area vocabulary is highlighted in the text and in the margins. The glossary provides definitions that are appropriate for the selection.

Read the Passage on Your Own

Direct Developing, Expanding, Bridging, and Reaching PLD students to reread the passage. Alternatively, you may wish to pair students, taking turns reading the passage. Remind them to pay attention to the details that support the main idea. Direct them to write answers to the Guided Thinking questions.

After Reading

Try It

Read the questions and answer choices aloud to students. Discuss reasoning for correct and/or incorrect answers. Then, direct Developing, Expanding, Bridging, and Reaching PLD students to answer the questions independently.

Organize It

Have students follow along as you read aloud the directions and examine the web organizer.

Begin by pointing out that one of the article's main ideas is written in the bottom oval. Explain that the lines joining the three other ovals to the bottom oval show that the information should be related to the main idea. Have students look through the article to find three details about why some people think cats make good pets. Ask them to tell where in the article they found each detail. Have them record their responses.

Allow Entering and Emerging PLD students to complete the web organizer using alternative ways such as drawing and labeling.

Exit Ticket

Remind students that when they summarize, they should try to include all the important ideas from the article in as few of their own words as possible.

Tell students to think of a reason why a cat is a good pet. Review the answers to the web organizer in Organize It to identify some reasons. Scaffold responses with a language frame such as, A cat is a good pet because _____.

Allow students time to Turn and Talk. Remind them to speak in complete sentences. Scaffold responses with the frame above.
