

Writing Activity: Evaluating Characters

Cluster 3 page 118

Directions: Choose four characters, real or fictional, from this book. Write an evaluation of each character's strengths, weaknesses, and survival skills. Then pick the one character you would want as your partner in a survival situation. Explain your choice.

Directions: The chart on the following screens will help you evaluate the characters. After you complete the chart, decide which character would be the best partner for you. You might choose the character you think is best qualified to survive. Or you might select a character whose skills complement your own. For example, if you know what plants are safe to eat, your partner doesn't need that knowledge.
